

If you had to rearrange the letters of your first name to give yourself a new name, what would your new name be?

If you could hear a speech from the leading figure in any field, whom would you choose to hear?

If you lived on a farm, which chore above all others would you definitely not want to do?

If you could bring back any deceased superstar for one final performance in their respective field, whom would you choose?

Some are high, some are low; some are long, some are short; some are old, some are new. In all your travels, what is the most awe-inspiring bridge you have ever crossed?

What is the greatest lesson in life you have ever learned?

If you could have 50 pounds of anything other than money, what would you want?

If you could be anywhere in the world for New Year's Eve this year, where would you most want to be?

If you could have any book instantly memorized cover to cover, which book would you choose?

Through the use of a time machine, you are traveling back to the year 1850. You may take with you one, and only one, product or invention from the modern era. What would you take with you to impress and awe our forebears?

You've been given the chance to travel into the future to see how the world will change over the next 50 years. What change in particular are you most interested in?

If you could have any object or place in the world completely to yourself for one day, what would you choose?

Thinking back to all the great TV series finales that you have seen over the years, which show do you believe had the best final episode?

Suppose for a moment that you are truly color-blind: all you can see is black and white. Then one day you wake up to find you can now see one color. Which color would you want it to be?

If you were asked to make a "Top Ten" list of the people you regard as the all-time greatest Americans, whom would you rank in the third, second, and first spots?

If you could add one month to the calendar year, inserting it between two existing months, where would you put the extra 30 days? (You can assume that the weather for this new month will be a mix of the weather typical of the month preceding it and following it.)

If you had to be of a different ethnicity than you actually are, to which heritage would you most like to belong?

If you could enter a racehorse in the Kentucky Derby, what would you name your horse?

If you had to write your own personal definition of the word "Success," what would it be?

If a local radio station offered to let you have your own 30-minute show each weekday morning, what type of show would you have?

In your opinion, what is the most beautiful man-made object in the world?

If you were writing an autobiography, what would be the book's title (besides your name)?

If you could walk into any painting and actually experience the moment or scene that it depicts, which painting would you choose to enter?

What would your dream house look like? Be as descriptive as possible

In your opinion, what is the best piece of music ever written?

If you could stand at the pinnacle of any natural object or man-made structure, what would it be?

If your name were given as the description for anyone word in the dictionary, behind what word would people find your name? (Example: HILARIOUS: John Smith.)

Which particular historical document (or portion thereof) do you think every American should know by heart?

If you could see the front page of a national newspaper dated January 1,2100, what do you imagine that the main headline might say?

What is something you forgot once that you will more than likely never forget again?

If you could create a memorial to yourself in a city park, what would the memorial be?

If you could float in a hot -air balloon over any city or place in the world, what would you choose to float over?

If you could wake up every morning, open your bedroom blinds, and look out a huge glass window at the perfect view, what would that view be?

When you look back on the life you have lived to this point, what in particular amazes you the most?

If you could go back in time and ask any famous person in history one question, whom would you question and what would you ask? (Assume that you would be given a completely honest answer.)

What is one trip you have never taken but would really like to take someday?

If, with your safety guaranteed, you could experience something considered very dangerous, what would you want to experience most of all?

If your life were literally flashing before your eyes, what are three moments or scenes from your past that you would expect to stand out?

Almost everyone can recall a missed photo opportunity because he/she did not have a camera. What moment above all others do you wish you could have caught on film?

Suppose that instead of having a name, you had a number, and people would always refer to you as that number. What number would you want to take the place of your name? (Your number can have as many or as few digits as you would like.)

If snow could fall in any flavor, what flavor would you choose?

What is something you always used to love to do that, during the last year or two, you feel like you've outgrown or lost interest in doing?

What is your all-time favorite scene from a movie?

What is the most money you have ever found lying on the ground in a public place?

Whenever you are having a bad day, what is the best thing you can do to help cheer yourself up?

What is your favorite time of the day? What is your favorite day of the week? What is your favorite day of the year? What is your favorite week of the year? What is your favorite month of the year? What is your favorite season of the year?

Besides your real birthday, what is one other date on the calendar that you think would have been a great day to be born?

If, like the newspaper or milk, you could have anything of your choice delivered to your doorstep every morning, what particular item would you want it to be?

If you could get one thing back that was either lost or destroyed, what would it be?

In your opinion, what is the most significant event that has occurred in world history during the last thousand years? (Yo~ may define "significant" however you wish.) Considering all the big-screen movies that you have ever seen, which one do you believe had the greatest emotional impact on you?

What is one vacation destination that many people think is just fabulous, but which you personally have no desire to ever visit (or revisit)?

Of all the great success stories that you have heard or read about, which one do you find the most inspiring?

If, instead of actually writing out your name, you now had to "sign" your name with a simple drawing of something,

What would you draw each time to represent who you are?

If you could at this very moment take a ride on anything in the world, what would you most want to ride?

If you could have the voice of any famous person, living or deceased, whose voice would you want to claim as your own?

What is one major problem, either in our own nation or throughout the world, that you honestly feel we will have pretty well solved within twenty years?

Which month of the year do you think would best describe your personality?

When people find out what you do for a living, what is the most typical question that they are likely to ask you regarding your job?

Which punctuation mark would best describe your personality?

What is the most incredible weather event you've ever been through in your life?

If, for your next birthday, someone offered to make you the ultimate dessert of your choice, what great concoction would you request? Be deliciously specific!

Suppose that instead of having a name, you had a letter, and people would always refer to you as that letter. Which letter of the alphabet would you want to take the place of your name?

If you could live in any state other than the one in which you currently reside, which state would you choose?

If you were a multimillionaire, where would you be and what do you believe you would be doing at this very moment?

Forget about soft sounds like babbling brooks, gentle showers, and warbling birds. What is your favorite loud sound?

If you could be the editor-in-chief of any magazine in circulation, having significant input as to the style and content of the publication, which magazine would you choose?

If, for one month, you could live at any famous residence or house in the entire world, which one would you pick?

Aside from any family, friends, or pets, what would be the most difficult thing for you to give up in your life?

If you had a great voice and had the opportunity to record a duet with any singer living today, whom would you choose as your partner for the recording?

What is one field or profession that you never pursued, but that you think you probably would have been quite good at?

In your own not-so-humble opinion, what is your most likeable quality?

What is the greatest distance you have ever driven in a single day?

If your taste buds could be altered so that the taste of anyone food would be dramatically intensified whenever you ate it, which food would you choose?

What was your favorite thing to pretend when you were a young child?

If you could bring to life any fictional character [from a book or movie, whom would you choose?

What is your biggest pet peeve?

If you could "uninvent" any past invention, which one would it be? (Consider all the ramifications of eliminating this invention.)

If you were a songwriter drawing from recent experiences in your own life as material for your next big hit, what would be the song's title?

What is the best piece of advice you have ever received in your life?

If you could change one-and only one aspect of the u.s. presidential election process, what would it be?

If you could bring back any tradition that seems to have faded into the past, what tradition would you bring back?

If you could be the CEO of any corporation in the world, which one would you choose?

On a scale of one to ten (with one being not at all and ten being very much so), how superstitious are you?

If you could know without a shadow of a doubt the answer to one question that has always troubled you, what question would you want to have answered once and for all?

Aside from any family occurrence (marriage, special anniversary, birth of a child, etc.), what event or accomplishment would you consider to be the highlight of your life thus far?

If you were invited to be the main guest on a new run of the famous show "This Is Your Life," what three people from your past would you love to see making a surprise visit on the show?

If you could become fully enlightened instantly on anyone subject, which subject would you choose?

If you were given the opportunity to be an apprentice to any person, living or deceased, from whom would you want to learn

Suppose that income taxes still had to be paid, but instead of going to the government, your tax dollars would go to any cause or charity of your choice. Assuming the money would have to go to the same place each year, where would you want it to go?

Who is the most famous person you have ever met?

What type of service to others or good deed done for other people do you personally find the most rewarding?

If you were making a list of the five things (not people!) that make you happiest in your life, what five things would you write down?

What world record would you most want to establish if you could?

If you had to spend an entire summer working at one of our country's national parks or historic sites, which one would you choose?

What is the most interesting course you have ever taken in school? On the other hand, what is the most boring course you have ever taken in school?

If you could experience a sailing adventure/cruise on any river, lake, or ocean in the world, : ~L what body of water would you choose for your trip?

If you were completely deaf but were somehow able to hear for one hour each month, what would you most often want to hear for that hour?

If you were given a $100 gift certificate to spend in any store, where would you choose to redeem it?

Everyone hears discussions that they consider boring. What topic can put you to sleep more quickly than any other?

Of all the movie characters you have seen, which one do you believe is most like you?

If all drinking fountains could dispense another liquid in addition to water, what would you want it to be?

What "moment of glory" have you watched another person celebrate that you too would love to experience if you could?

What is the most exciting event you have ever witnessed?

If you had to wear a button with a maximum of six words on it describing your outlook on life, what would your button say?

If you had to change your first name, what would you choose as your new name?

Most people have a favorite story or experience that they love to share with other people. Here's your chance: What's your story?

If you were asked to create the ultimate vacation destination, where would it be located and what would it be like?

What is something that many people consider a modern-day convenience that you, quite frankly, consider a pain in the neck?

If you were told that you could watch only one television show a week for the next 12 months, which show would you choose to watch?

If you could invent a pair of glasses that would allow you to see abstract things (e.g., the motives behind someones actions), what would you want to see most of all?

If you had the time and money and could go on any month-long summer adventure of your choice, what would you choose to do?

If you could know one fact about every person you ever meet, what particular fact would you want it to be?

(Assume that the other person would not have to be aware that you know this fact about them.)

What thought or sentiment would you like to have copied and put into one million fortune cookies?

If you could be one of America's "most wanted;" but wanted because of some great skill you possess, what skill would you want to have?

If you had the ability to compete in any Olympic event, which one would you choose to enter?

If you were to write a book, what would you choose as the topic?

If you were a professional artist, what would be the theme of your drawings/paintings?

What is one piece of advice that you wish you could pass along to everyone else?

If you won $2 million tomorrow, what are the first three things you think you would do or buy as soon as you had the check in your hand?

If you could have been there to witness any specific moment in sports history, what moment would you choose?

If you were completely blind but could somehow see for just one hour each month, how would you most often spend that time?

As the Christmas season approaches, what song is it that you just can't wait to hear?

What is your favorite saying or quotation?

If ten people who know you were asked to write down on a piece of paper the one adjective that each of them thinks best describes you, what do you think would be the most common word written down?
(Consider the answer from their viewpoint, not yours!)

What is one item you own that has virtually no monetary value but has such sentimental value that you would not sell it for $1,000?

If you were on an African safari, what would you absolutely have to see for your trip to be complete?

If you could design any new ride or attraction for Walt Disney World, what would it be?

If you won a contest in which your prize was to select any three guests to appear on a popular late-night talk show, which three people would you choose?

What is something you really enjoy doing that is a chore or a bore for many people?

If anyone of the national holidays had to be celebrated twice a year, six months apart, which one would you want it to be?

What is one event in the future whose outcome you would really like to know now?

If you had to choose your own epitaph of eight words or fewer (besides name and dates), what would it say?

If you were an airline pilot and were told to choose any route that you would have to fly for your entire career, what two cities would your flights connect?

If you could be the spokesperson for any product on the market, what product would you choose to enthusiastically represent?

You've no doubt heard the expression, "They couldn't pay me enough to do that job!" What job would that be for you?

What is the best $100 you have ever spent in your life?

What is one item you own that you really should throwaway ... but probably never will?

If rain could fall in any scent, what scent would you want it to be?

What is the longest line you have ever stood in?

If you could take any job for just one month, what job would you like to have?
(Assume that you would have the skills and knowledge to perform adequately.)

If you could open your own retail store, what type of merchandise would you sell?

If everyone were required to wear a hat at all times, what sort of hat would you wear?

If the daytime high temperature had to be exactly the same every day of the year, what would you want the temperature to be?

What is the c-c-c-coldest
you have ever been in your life, and what is the (whew!!!) hottest
you have ever been in your life?

If a local radio station offered to let you have your own 30-minute show each weekday morning, what type of show would you have?

If you could change the ending to any movie you have ever seen, what movie would it be and how would you alter the way it ends?